PICTURES INSPIRATION TO ROBBERY

Three Youthful Bandits Are Taken in Tow by the Waukegan Police

BLAME MOVING PICTURES

Two Admit that They Oftimes Slept in Moving Picture Parlors and Blame
Show for Robbery Idea

A moving picture show innocent amusement in itself, was blamed for inspiring two south side Waukegan youths to a robbery "stunt" Sunday night, according to the story told the police.

In the arrest of Charles Gaicas, and his brothers John aged 11 and 10 years respectively, the police believe they have in custody the leader of a real gang of outlaws, who have proven a terror to south side residents, especially in the region of Washburn Spings.

The two lads, with a companion, Tony Missilus of Chicago, were arrested in connection with the robbery of the Sam Eisenberg store on Sunday night, shortly after 10. According to the story told the police, Charles and John Gaicas had obtained a monkey wrench from their home, Lincoln avenue, and had pried off the lock of the door. Missilus the Chicago lad, testified that his mother had left him and gone to Michigan City, Ind., and that he had come out here to join the band, under the leadership of the Gaicas brothers. He was held for receiving a watch from the brothers.

The two brothers, they admitted, had not slept at home for several days. They claimed that they lived in a cave in the ravine near May street, in any old deserted shed, in haystacks or wherever they happened to be. Both brothers admitted that they were moving picture show fiends they attended, lent inspiration for the tenth street robbery, their first attempt in this.

The same boys are believed to be the ones who held up several childrens on their way to school of Father Kruzcius last summer. The mother of the brothers is dead, both boys stated that their stepmother was good to them.

BRISTOL GIRL BECOMES BRIDE OF KENTUCKY MAN

There was an interesting wedding here Thursday afternoon when Miss Mary Belle Van Lier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Van Lier, became the bride of Robert Lee Reeves of Paducah, Ky. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride, the service being read by the Rev. Homer Vreeland, pastor of the Bristol and Paris Congregational church. Many friends of the contracting parties were present at the wedding.

Immediately after the reception that followed, Mr. and Mrs. Reeves left for a wedding trip through the south and west. They will make their home at Paducah after the first of June.

Mr. Reeves is the president of the First National Bank of Paducah and his marriage to Miss Van Lier is the culmination of a romance begun at the Penoyer sanitarium in Kenosha some time ago. Miss Van Lier was graduated from the Kenosha hospital training school and after her graduation she took up her profession as a nurse and was engaged in the care of a patient when she met Mr. Reeves who had come to the Penoyer in search of health.

Pawn Tomba of Relatives.
In times of financial difficulties the Lochoanos, residents of the south-western islands of Japan, sometimes pawn the graves of their relatives. They are always redeemed, however, failure to do so meaning family disgrace. The turtle-back shaped tombs, usually located on a hillside facing the water, are elaborate affairs of stone and cement, and their cost and upkeep often bankrupt the family.

M.W. A. PLAN TO ORGANIZE

Meeting Was Held Saturday to Start the Ball Rolling

At a meeting of the Modern Woodmen of the County, held in the M. W. A. Hall at Waukegan last Saturday afternoon plans were perfected for the organization of a Lake County Woodman Protective Association, the organization being formed to decide what action should be taken in regard to the new rates.

At the meeting W. E. Miller was chosen chairman and Conrad Hollstein was named secretary. It was decided that an organization known as the Lake County Woodman Protective Association should be formed, and to further this plan it was decided that one delegate to each 100 woodmen should be named to gather in Waukegan on March 23 and decide what action should be taken.

There are now about 3,000 Woodmen in the county and this will mean that thirty delegates will meet. No hint of possible secession could be heard at the meeting.

A delegate from the head state camp will be in Waukegan this week to instruct the members of the order in the county in regard to the new rates.

MORALITY OF THE ELEPHANT

He Makes a Cat's Paw of Boy's Hand to Steal the Unhusked Rice.

Singular as it may seem, elephants which have associated with men entertain the notion that, under special circumstances, they are not responsible if they utilize another to commit an illegal act. The following is an instance of this elephantine morality:

A man in Rangoon bought three young elephants to send to England. They were tame and playful, but cunning. Knowing that it was wrong to steal paddy (unhusked rice)—the idea had doubtless been impressed upon them by punishment for stealing—they would not touch it themselves. But if a boy went to see them, he would be seized by one, the little trunk would be coiled around his arm, and he would be led to where the paddy was kept in bags.

The elephant would make a cat's paw of the boy's hand to take up a handful of paddy. Then, letting go, he would turn up the end of his trunk, open it, and coaxingly invite the boy to drop in the paddy.

Should the boy, however, put it back in the bag, his arm would again be seized by the trunk, and his hand would be again inserted into the paddy bag.

The boy, anxious to be released, would usually drop the paddy into the trunk, and the elephant would blow the rice into his mouth. After repeating the operation several times, the elephant would scamper off, feeling that he had got the paddy without stealing it.—Harper's Weekly.

AGED MAN DISAPPEARS FROM HOME

John Lange Finds Cap in the Harbor Corresponding to
One Worn by Him

IS FIRST REAL CLUE FOUND

Hunter at Lake Finds Gray Cap and Relatives Claim It Answers Description of Missing Man

It was only a small gray cap, floating on the surface of the water in the harbor, yet officials believe that they have found the first clue, following the disappearance of William Strong, aged and respected resident of Waukegan, who disappeared Saturday night.

The cap was found by John Lange, a carpenter, who was hunting on the lake front. It was seen floating among the cakes of ice, 300 feet from the south pier of the harbor, and while it was so far from the pier that Lange could not recover it, he took a description of the cap.

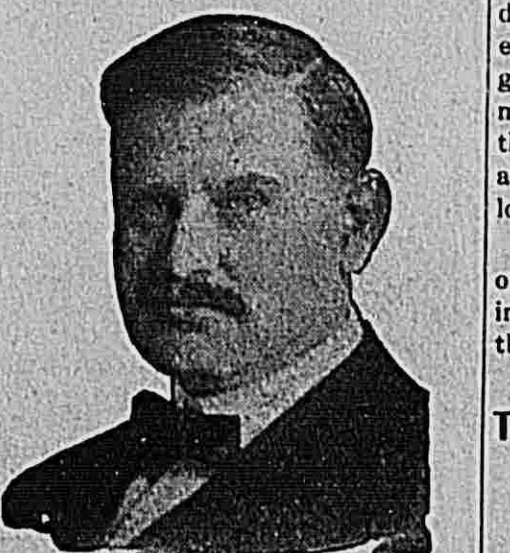

The matter was reported to the police shortly before 10 o'clock Wednesday, and relatives of William Strong were immediately notified. The description of the cap tallied with that worn by Mr. Strong on the evening of his disappearance, and the worst fears of his relatives seem to be realized.

Strong, shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday evening, was seen by John Gamash, on Spring street, headed toward the lake and immediately the supposition arose that the aged man, during temporary absence of memory, had wandered down to the lake.

The finding of the cap appears to bear out this theory. The harbor is as yet so full of ice, that it would be impossible for men to drag the bottom of the harbor to attempt to find the remains. As soon as the ice breaks up in the spring, or the harbor clears of ice, an attempt will be made to find the remains of the aged man, who disappeared Saturday.

Macedonia Rich in Minerals.
Since remote times the soil of Macedonia has had the reputation of containing many precious minerals. Not only was this stated by historians, but it is evident by the remains of great works undertaken by the ancients in the mining centers, and especially on the Peninsula of Chalcidice. These works reached the highest point of development under Philip of Macedonia and Alexander the Great.

Hardly Ever.
People who like flattery hardly ever are willing to concede that it is flattery when it is handed to them.

MacGUFFIN STRONG MAN

Libertyville Man Making a Good Showing in the District

Paul MacGuffin is engaged in a canvass of the district which has already taken him into many of the several districts, and is everywhere meeting with enthusiastic support.

The candidate was in Antioch Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, and seemed very pleased with the attitude of the voters of this section of the county.

From many parts of the district come reports which are favorable to the Lake County Candidate, and the mention he is receiving in the newspapers makes it look as though he is a winner.

The News, this week editorially gives its reasons for supporting MacGuffin, and believes it voices the sentiment of most of its readers.

ONE KILLED WHEN FLOOR COLLAPSES

The Victim of This Accident
Was Saving to Bring His Family to America

BLAME DEFECTIVE FLOORING

This is the Second Disaster to Occur at the Corn Products Plant Within One Week

One man was killed and several others injured, when a floor collapsed at the Corn Products Refining company's plant, at Waukegan, Friday morning, shortly after the men had started to work.

According to the statement of several who saw the accident, it is said the accident was due to defective flooring in the place. Several men were engaged in piling sacks of sugar on the floor, when without warning the floor gave way, precipitating the men to the floor below.

Tony Toni, the man who was killed, was employed on the floor below when, without warning, the heavy mass of sugar fell upon him. His life was crushed out immediately.

Mingled with the sacks of sugar, human forms fell through the empty space to the floor below. The tangled mass of sacks and humanity was pulled apart by workmen, who had witnessed the disaster and a toll of the injured taken.

A case of unusual pathos is presented in the death of Theodoroff he was a young man of about 28 years of age and had a wife and three children in Bulgaria. He came to this country about six years ago, to make some money and bring his family over to America. He worked first in New York and then in Chicago, and about a year ago he came to Waukegan and has since worked for the Corn Products Company. The first of April would have seen his little family with him in this country.

While in Chicago Theodoroff was running a little ice cream and store at 1317 West Monroe street. He was forced to mortgage his property for $500 with the firm of Van Burrell and Doll, one of the many who are at the present time being taken to task for charging illegal interest. The mortgage was foreclosed before the time was up, the attorneys entering the little store of the deceased taking all the money they could lay their hands on and also some valuable papers.

The case is now pending and was to have come to trial at the March terms of court. His death of course will nullify the proceedings. The unfortunate man was heard to remark just the other day, that he would soon have money enough to bring his family to Waukegan. He was a sober and industrious man and his death adds another one to the list of "ignorant Polacks," as they are called in some quarters who have lost his life.

D. Economoff, representing the firm of Bulgarian lawyers at Gary, Ind., was in the city Saturday in attendance at the inquest.

THOMAS F. BURNS OF BELVIDERE HAS DISAPPEARED

A police search instituted in Chicago Tuesday, in an effort to locate Thos. F. Burns of Belvidere former state representative from the eighth senatorial district, discloses the information that Burns has been missing since Feb. 20.

He is well known in Lake county having been the minority representative from Lake, Boone and McHenry counties. He is known to have been in Chicago and his actions were such as to give rise to the theory that he was mentally unbalanced.

In November 1910 Burns sought reelection but was defeated by Anderson, Burns contested the election but lost. It is said that his campaign cost him several thousand dollars and that his defeat has preyed upon his mind.

Mayor Harrison's aid was sought by prominent democrats who are of the belief that the missing man is in Chicago, a victim of aphasia.

MANY ACRES RECLAIMED

Drainage Ditch to Go Through Vernon
Will Drain 1,600 Acres

Several hundred acres of swamp land in Lake county will be reclaimed when a new drainage district, now arranged for, is put through the affected territory. The district included is now known as Vernon Drainage District, No. 2. The commissioners of the district filed their report in county court this week. The commissioners appointed by the court are Miles T. Lamey of Barrington, William Huhn of Deerfield and George Quentin of Libertyville.

In all there is over 1,600 acres of land in the district which includes the territory below Aptakisic, running westerly two Long Grove and northerly by Prairie View. At the present time the greater part of the district is under two or three feet of water. The estimated cost of the drainage together with the other work entailed is $12,000. The course of the ditch was laid out and staked by Surveyor M. R. Miller.

The ditch which is to drain this territory will be about five miles long and will empty into a creek, eventually emptying into the Desplaines river. It will be six feet in width at the bottom and the depth will vary according to the grade. Scores of laterals will run into the big drainage ditch from the many farms along the course.

The cost will be assessed against the district but apparently the most are in favor of it as there was no strenuous objection made when the public hearing was held. The farmers feel that they will be amply repaid because of the benefits that will accrue to them.

The work on the construction of the ditch will start in May and it is expected that it will take the greater part of the summer to finish the work. The work of digging the ditch will be done by machines made especially for the purpose.

MRS. VICTORIA YOPP DEAD

Died at Her Home Friday Last Aged
Seventy-Nine Years

On Friday of last week Mrs. Victoria Yopp, one of the oldest residents of Grass Lake passed from this earthly life into the great beyond, at the age of 79 years, 11 months and 25 days. The deceased had been in declining health for the past number of years, no special disease making itself manifest, her decline being solely due to the advancement of age.

Victoria Grimm was born in Germany on the 28th day of February 1832 and came to America in the year of 1856. She was united in marriage to John Yopp, the same year, in Chicago where they resided four years moving to Grass Lake in 1860 and living there continuously until their death.

To them six children were born only two of whom, one son Joseph and one daughter Mrs. Anna Keifer both of Grass Lake are left to mourn a mother's loss. Besides her own immediate family she is survived by her brother John Grimm of this place and many other relatives and a large circle of friends.

The funeral was held at the home at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the eightieth birthday of the deceased, with Rev. A. O. Stixrud officiating and a large number of neighbors and friends in attendance. The burial was at the Grass Lake cemetery.

People's Town Caucus.

A caucus of the legal voters of the town of Antioch will be held on Saturday March 16, 1912, at the village hall in the village of Antioch between the hours of 1 p. m. and 5 p. m. for the purpose of nominating one candidate for each of the following offices: one Town clerk; one Assessor, one Collector, one Commissioner of Highways, one Constable, one Justice of Peace and three Committeemen, who shall constitute the Town committee for the ensuing year.

All voting in said Caucus, shall go by ballot containing the names of all candidates and the manner of conducting the Caucus and all voting therein, shall be as near as may be in accordance with the Australian system of voting. The undersigned Chairman and Secretary shall act as Chairman and Secretary of said Caucus and shall certify the names of the successful candidates as required by law. No ballot shall be counted unless it shall be endorsed therein, the initials of one of the judges hereinafter named. Each person desiring to become a candidate in said Caucus shall give his name to one of the undersigned Town Committee on or before Friday, March 15, 1912, and then pay his share of the expense of said Caucus.

Town Committee,
Wallace Drom, Chairman,
John Cribb, Secretary,
Frank Harden

TWO DEAD IN POISON MYSTERY

Man and Wife Found Dead
With Indications Pointing
Toward Arsenical Poison

DEAD FOR SEVERAL DAYS

May Have Been Murder and May Have Been Suicidal Compact, Which, Will Never be Known

One of the most gruesome sights ever witnessed in Waukegan was witnessed Sunday morning about 10 o'clock, when Assistant Chief Tyrrell and Officer Gen. Hicks forced their way into the dingy home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenstrom, 435 South Park avenue and found this condition:

They found Jenstrom and his wife cold in death; both lying on their bed in a filthy bedroom, death evidently having overtaken them from poison some several days previously.

They found a dead white cat in the other room, which answered as sitting room, kitchen and parlor of the home.

They found the kitchen table covered with dirty dishes, a loaf of bread, sauerkraut, soup etc. Neighbors reported it.

The fact that no signs of life had been seen about the house for some days caused a neighbor to refer the matter to Officer Tyrrell Sunday morning and he decided to investigate. He took Officer Hicks to the house, forced a window, opened a door and then discovered the terrible sight. Deputy Coroner Conrad was notified and he took the bodies to the morgue, where at 4 o'clock Sunday, Coroner Taylor held an inquest.

The couple lay on their unkempt bed the wife being toward the wall, the husband's legs protruding over the side toward the front. The woman had evidently retired for the night, because she had on her night gown, an undershirt and stockings. The man was dressed as he had evidently been during the evening, having on all his clothes, except his coat. The bed clothes partially covered the woman, while none were over the man.

The fact that the man's body was decomposed, terribly, while the woman's was not so bad, was another peculiar feature. The man's body was frozen very hard, while the woman's was not. These facts in a way would have indicated that the man might have died some time before the woman, but the general theory is that they both died, probably in a suicide compact.

Jenstrom, who would have been 59 years old March 23rd next, was about four years older than his wife. They had lived at the address mentioned ever since coming to Waukegan about twenty years ago, from Finland, their native land.

Jenstrom was a carpenter and worked for Tobias Jensen off and on until last fall. At one time he worked in the wire works, where his brother is now employed. He had not worked much during the winter. The only relative of the pair is the brother, Matt Jenstrom, of May street. He did not hear of the tragedy until about noon Sunday and could offer no theory as to the motive. Jenstrom lost a few hundred dollars a short time ago and had worried considerably over it, but his relative declares he owned mortgages, etc., which would aggregate in all from $7,000 to $8,000, hence he had no reason to worry about getting along.

Two years ago Mrs. Jenstrom disappeared and was gone ten months' time returning as suddenly as she went. She explained she had gone to father in Massachusetts. The wife was never considered right in her and the belief was that she left while temporarily deranged.

The coroner's inquest was held at 8 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Hart undertaking rooms and evidence produced led the coroner and jurors to return what might be an open verdict. That both died of poison there was no doubt in the minds of but the question as to whether a case of double suicide or murdered the other and then suicide himself was the one not answered. The verdict administered by some of the jury.

STILL WIELD THEIR POWER

Mummies of Ancient Kings, It Is Declared, Have Ability to Resent Less Majesty.

A correspondent of the Egyptian Gazette relates a strange adventure that happened to him. He visited the Cairo Museum, accompanied by a friend, and in the course of his inspection came across the mummy of Ahmose I. In the wall case not far from the jewel room.

He turned to his companion and made some remark about the extreme ugliness of the mummy's face. No sooner had he made that remark than he was overcome with a feeling of suffocation as if a cord was being tightened around his neck. The feeling lasted for about a minute and then gradually began to pass away.

The correspondent adds that he and his fellow traveler were considerably shaken by the incident, which was all the more extraordinary in that he had never had a day's illness in his life.

Doubtless scientists and medical men will have their theory for this incident, but all the same it has an uncanny flavor. There is indeed a popular superstition, whether fathered by the dragomans in order to mystify and overawe tourists or not, that the mummies still retain the powers of wizardry which in the fullness of their life they were credited with possessing. As a result many folk absolutely decline to look at the mummified remains of Egypt's ancient kings, as they fear the spirits of those personages will wreak their vengeance on them for their profane gaze.

I personally know level-headed, rational residents who, fascinated by the Sphinx, can stand and look at it for an hour on end, but who would go in mortal terror of their lives if they were in its presence to let fall any personal remark about its ugliness or dilapidated condition.—Cairo Letter to the London Standard.

When Bodysnatchers Thrived.
A link with the days of the bodysnatchers was severed, recently, by the death, at the age of 90, of George Florence of Culsalmond, Aberdeen, Scotland, who at once time acted as a grave digger. He had many recollections of incidents associated with suppression of the ghoul practice of procuring bodies for dissection purposes. In many churchyards a place was set apart for the watchers—friends and relatives of the deceased—who kept guard over the place of burial for several nights after the funeral. He used to say with pride that Culsalmond churchyard was a terror to bodysnatchers. In one corner was a watchhouse where the bodies were kept for weeks after death, until they were useless from the anatomists' point of view. The walls were of extraordinary thickness, and the doors were of iron, doubly locked. The keys were placed in the custody of four keykeepers, elected periodically, without whose personal attendance no one could enter.

Pipe a Motorist May Smoke.
The automobile has been responsible for the invention and introduction of many novel appliances which were unheard of and which never would have been considered necessary in the old days. Here is one of the latest. It is called the automobile pipe, and every automobilist who has tried to smoke a cigar or pipe while traveling at high speed will be interested in studying its curious shape. This, it is said by the inventor of the pipe, will appeal to automobilists who are anxious to reduce wind resistance by presenting a small cutting surface to the wind.

Buying a Habit.
A countryman passing through town was attracted by a notice in a shop window which read: "Good Habits for Sale." After studying it for some time he went inside.
"Well, sir," said the assistant, "what can I do for you?"
"I want to get a good habit, please," said the countryman.
"What kind would you like, sir?" said the assistant.
"The one of getting up early in the morning," replied the countryman.
The assistant looked astonished; then, seeing a joke, wrote on a slip of paper: "Please give bearer some self-raising flour," and then he directed him to the grocery shop next door.

Modern Advertising.
Today, advertising is upon a fair, square and firm basis, recognized as a commodity, as a part of the business structure, and accepted by the public as a necessity. It is framed as one would plan a house, built upon the lines of sense and permanency, and has become a permanent and acceptable feature in the life of business and in the life of all of the people.—Nathaniel C. Fowler, Jr.

Goes 9,000 Miles to Marry.
Charles Kayser, a miner, traveled by horseback 1,400 miles from Candelaria, Nev., to Denver, Colo., to attend the wedding of his youngest daughter, Louise. Adolph Kurtz traveled 9,000 miles from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, to meet Miss Kayser, his bride-to-be, and Miss Kayser traveled from Nevada to Denver, over 1,000 miles by rail. The wedding marked the end of a college romance that began several years ago at Hopkins Institute, Baltimore, when Miss Kayser was a freshman and Mr. Kurtz was a senior.

TUDORS' WORK GOOD

Tunnels Built Centuries Ago Are Still in Existence.

Newly Discovered Underground Workings Built by Order of Cardinal Wolsey Are Found to Be in Perfect Condition.

That the Tudors were the best plumbers in the world is attested by the fact that a tunnel built four centuries ago by Cardinal Wolsey and through which water was conveyed from a spring by means of lead pipes is still in existence. It is not only in existence, but is in practically as good condition as when it was first constructed. What good building this means may be understood when it is noted that directly over the tunnel huge trees are growing—one of them with at least five tons of timber in it—but neither their roots nor their weight have made any impression at all upon its walls.

Not so eternal have been the means whereby Wolsey had the water conveyed from Kingston hill to Hampton court. After it had made its way through a succession of wells and reservoirs, which still retain the old lead and stone, the water was taken down the hill in broad lead pipes and so on to Hampton. But, alas! it could not be protected from rapacious hands after it had served the great cardinal's purpose, for lead has a value for other and more harmful things than the conveyance of spring water. So as soon as Hampton court ceased to depend for its drinking water upon the cardinal's spring people began to lay sacrilegious hands on the pipes. A considerable amount of the lead was, it is believed, melted down for ammunition during the civil war. The rest has been pilfered from time to time for various purposes, and some of it is said even now to be lying at the bottom of the Thames.

Both the old buildings and the spring itself are still almost as they were when the cardinal had completed his work of carrying the water in leaden pipes all the way from the top of Kingston hill to his new home. Hitherto few people save the personal friends of the present owner have known of the existence of these remnants of the great man's enterprise, but a wonderful glimpse into the past is to be obtained by any one privileged to open the fastshut door of the tunnel and descend into the subterranean wonderland.

Lacked His Trick Bible.
New York.—How he fooled a jury and won his freedom with the aid of a Bible was told by George McAllister, eighteen years old, in general sessions, where he was arraigned before Judge Rosalsky for the second time in three months on the charge of burglary.

McAllister was tried last September, and as he ascended the witness stand in his own defense at that time he took a Bible from his pocket and asked that he might be sworn upon it, and not upon the court Bible. "Because it was given to me by mother, and she lived up to what it contains," he explained.
McAllister denied the charge of burglary, and the jury acquitted him. When McAllister again was arraigned, Assistant District Attorney Delehanty recognized him and asked: "Got your Bible with you today?"
"Nope," replied McAllister. "They got me right this time. I plead guilty." He was remanded for sentence.

Yale Gets Three-Eyed Reptile.
New Haven, Conn.—Henry D. Baker, Yale, 1896, American consul in Hobart, Tasmania, who already has sent several collections to the Yale university museum, has added another collection of birds and reptiles almost entirely extinct on the globe. The collection was gathered in New Zealand. It includes a specimen of a wingless bird called the kiwi and of a reptile of the lizard type called a tuatara, remarkable as having a rudimentary third eye.

The museum soon is to mount a part of a dinosaur discovered by Prof. O. C. Marsh, and representing a reptile, which in life was probably 100 feet long. The fossil is much larger than corresponding parts of a dinosaur already partly mounted, which was sixty-seven feet long.

POPE'S ARMY IS REMODELED

Obsolete Halberd, Relic of Mediaeval Times, Has Been Replaced by Powerful Rifle of Swiss Make.

Rome.—The wee Papal army is being reorganized. Hereafter it will not be so picturesque as of old, but it will be easier to equip and more serviceable. The army is divided into two different bodies—the "Guardia Palatina," to which is intrusted the defense of the person of the Pontiff and his court; the Swiss Guard, which has the charge of the general defense of the territory belonging to the Holy See. While the first body has only nominal duties, and is composed of the youth of the leading clerical society of Rome, the second is a real and proper organization of soldiers, with regular pay, whose objects are as important as those of any other army in the world. It is in this second body that the reform is being carried out.

A new commander has been appointed, M. Rapon, a retired colonel of the Swiss army, who has immediately started his work of reorganization. The obsolete halberd, relic of mediaeval times, has been replaced by a powerful rifle of Swiss make, suitable for any up-to-date European army. With such a modern weapon the Vatican troops could no longer wear those picturesque uniforms, with yellow and black stripes, which rendered the Swiss Guard conspicuous at a great distance. As the gray and "khaki" colors had been adopted by the Italian army, and, therefore, could not be used, the new uniform has been cut from a dark blue material, almost black.

This uniform will be worn every day, but a special costume has been adopted for occasions of state ceremonies. It is entirely different from any style used at the Vatican till now, and is much like the costumes worn by the knights of the middle ages when crusaders were fashionable.

Up till now the Vatican army has been composed of a small number of men, but it is the intention of the new commander to bring the regular forces to about 800.

AMERICA'S ONE WOMAN JAILER

In East Greenwich, R. I., an Elderly Woman Looks After the Prisoners.

East Greenwich, R. I.—In a little white painted frame house in this town lives Evelyn Smith, America's one and only woman jailer.

The custodian of offenders against the law, ranging all the way from the disorderly character "picked up" at night to the murderer awaiting trial by the high court, Mrs. Smith is just completing her thirtieth year in her present official capacity, and the sixty-fifth year that the office has remained undisputed in her family.

Mrs. Smith believes in humanity and humane treatment of prisoners. "They are all human beings," is the way in which she expresses it.

Since the time, sixty-five years ago, when, as a little girl she saw her grandfather, John Place, assume the position of jailer, she has watched her father, her uncle and her husband conduct the affairs of the tiny jail, and, what is more, has learned to read character and has come to see the human side of even the murderer.

HOW TO BUILD A SATISFACTORY AND CHEAP BROODER FOR LITTLE CHICKS

1. Base of brooder, made of inch boards, 12 inches wide.
2. Sheet of galvanized iron 3x5 feet.
3. Strip 1x1 inch nailed all round the base on top of iron.
4. Holes 1x2 inches, about three on two opposite sides.

By D. O. BARTO, University of Illinois.

Even more important than the correct housing of laying hens and the breeding flock is the proper brooding of little chickens. For no matter how good the stock is or how strong the vitality of the chicks when hatched, if they do not have right conditions in their brooding they will either die, or worse, develop into weak, unprofitable fowls.

The number of inquiries which the writer receives about the selection of an incubator and how to run it indicates that beginners think the hatching of chickens is the principal thing to be mastered in the poultry business. This is a mistaken idea. Any one can learn to hatch chickens with almost any kind of an incubator, but it will take care and skill to keep them alive and thriving until they are four or five weeks old. After that age it is easier sailing.

There are as many different kinds of brooders on the market as there are incubators, and many of them are high-priced. The capital invested in brooders in many poultry plants is the heaviest single item in the business and this tempts many poultry raisers to try to economize by repeatedly shifting the chicks from the brooder in which they were started into some makeshift of a hover or coop where the conditions are so different from what they had become accustomed to that the change proves disastrous to them. It is better, when possible, to allow the chicks to remain for the first three months of their lives, at least, in the brooder in which they were started.

In the selection of a brooder there are a few essentials that must not be overlooked. The features that I regard as indispensable in a brooder are: 1. Abundant supply of fresh air at all times. 2. Ability to furnish plenty of heat when needed.

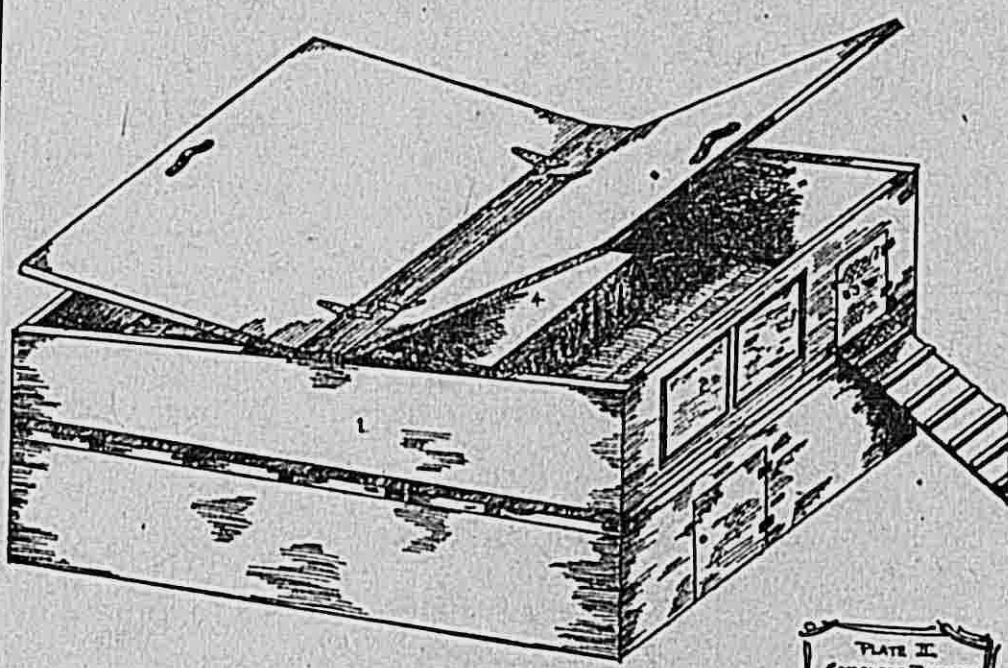

pine floor. Bore three inch holes on two opposite sides of the box in the inch strip between the two floors for air to pass in.

In one end of the box (which will be the rear end) cut a door 8x8 inches to slide the lamp under the iron cover. The door should be in the middle of the end and hinges on the side.

Eighteen inches from the rear end and midway between the sides cut a 6-inch hole through the pine flooring and fasten over the hole a common tin lard pail in which a number of nail holes have been punched through the bottom and sides. Make a light wood frame 18 inches square, set on legs 6 inches high and tack on top of this a thin board or piece of heavy roofing paper. Around the edge of the frame tack a strip of woolen cloth (something which will not unravel), about 4½ inches wide and slit it into strips 2 inches wide. This is the hover to be placed over the perforated lard pail.

The upper section of the brooder is made of another 16-foot board, the sides being 5 feet long and the ends 3 feet, but the front end is 12 inches wide and the rear only 8 inches, and the sides cut tapering to fit, giving a slight slope to the roof. Across the middle of the top nail a 3-inch strip 3 feet long and hinge two doors, over front and rear, to this strip. The doors, or covers, may be made of light 2-inch strips covered with a good roofing paper. Around the bottom of this upper section nail a 2½-inch strip of wood beveled so that it will slip down over the lower section and hold the top part in place. This strip should lap an inch and a half. In the front end put a two light, 8x10-inch window and a door 10x10 inches with a little run for the chicks to reach the ground.

For heating, a small oil stove, 4-inch wick, with a font large enough to hold sufficient oil for 12 to 14 hours,

1. Side of top, 12 inch in front, 8 inch in back.
2. Windows in front.
3. Door for chicks to pass.
4. Hover.

NOTE—Door for lamp should be shown in other end of base; the flue for warm air (lard pail), should also be shown in back end of brooder, (plate D), 18 inches from rear, leaving front end for feeding and exercise.

3. Construction which enables it to be easily and quickly cleaned and opened to the sun. 4. A roomy, well-lighted and comfortable compartment where the chickens may eat and take their exercise when the weather does not permit them to run outside.

I have had experience with a great many different kinds of brooders. A number of them with proper care can be made to do good work, but the most satisfactory brooder that I have ever used and the one which I am now depending upon almost altogether is a simple, home-made affair that anyone who can saw and drive nails can make. The following description of its construction I think will be all that is needed as a guide in building it.

The brooder is made in two sections so that the upper one can be lifted off from the lower to clean the brooder or in moving to another place. The lower section is made of a 16-foot board 12 inches wide, cutting two pieces for the sides 5 feet long, and two pieces for the ends 3 feet long. Nail these together at the corners and then nail tightly over the top of the box a sheet of good galvanized iron 3x5 feet. On top of the iron sheet, around the four edges of the box, nail a strip of wood 1x1 inch and above these strips nail a good tight door of matched pine. This gives a double cover to the box with an inch space between the iron sheet and the or any strong-burning brooder lamp will be all that is needed for heating. Keep the floor of the brooder covered thickly enough with loose material, chaff, sand, or fine soil, to prevent the floor from becoming too warm for the chicks. I keep a thick layer of chaff in the rear and under the hover and sand in front where the little ones are fed.

A brooder of this sort can be built for $4 to $6 and is capable of caring for 100 chicks easily. By placing a middle section, 10 inches wide, between the upper and lower parts, the brooder will be capacious enough to house the chickens during the whole season and no other colony house need be provided.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

How Mrs. Reed of Peoria, Ill., Escaped The Surgeon's Knife.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Forty years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also Avoided Operation.

Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed.

"Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.

Our Next State Senator

In the matter of endorsing a man for State Senator from this district, the News is actuated by motives, which to every voter of Lake county should be good and sufficient reasons.

Four years ago this paper stood for the election of A. J. Olson, of McHenry county. We believed then, and do now, that our neighboring county at that time, was entitled to the member of the upper branch of the state law making body.

State Senators from the eighth district have never asked a re-election, and it is, in our opinion, unwise to change the custom.

The district is made up of three counties and the representation at Springfield should be such as to give each county at least one representative, and allow the Senatorship to be passed around among the three counties.

McHenry county is sure to elect one representative. Last session she had the Senator and two Republican representatives. She has had her share, A. J. Olson should not ask a re-election.

We would like him better, if he, like our honored citizen, Albert N. Tiffany, would adhere to the fair and equitable division of the Senatorial honors, and content himself with the fact he has had as much as any of his predecessors, and in appreciation of the honor bestowed upon him by the voters of this district, step down and out for at least four years, and not attempt to break an old and much respected custom—that no county shall have the Senatorship for two successive terms.

This paper in addition to the fairness and honesty expressed in the above described custom, prohibiting McHenry county from naming the next State Senator, has the interests of Lake county at heart, and as the latter has a strong, safe and efficient candidate, we are pleased to say—the Antioch News is in favor of the nomination of Attorney Paul MacGuffin, of Libertyville.

While we may differ with Mr. MacGuffin, in the matter of the selection of a man to wear the title of Governor of this state, we realize the fact that political conditions are such in this state that to bring the many factions together, is a task requiring almost superhuman tact and intelligence.

With the above chaotic conditions prevailing, we unreservedly give our endorsement to MacGuffin, believing that in the nomination and election of such men, will eventually come a reorganization of the disintegrated forces of the Republican party, and again put the state of Lincoln in her proper and once enviable position.

We will not here recite any of the legislation which the present incumbent enacted or attempted to enact and hope he will not drive us to the task.

In all fairness and for the best interest of Lake county we again recommend the nomination of Paul MacGuffin.

George claims that he has Lake County all fenced in, and that the people will follow his blind lead again this fall. Maybe they will and maybe they will not.

In this issue will be found a two column announcement of John E. Reardon who is a candidate for the office of Circuit Clerk for Lake county, who seeks the toga held by Lewis O. Brockway for the past twelve years.

It is reported that George Edmund Foss is trying to fix his fences in Cook and Lake counties. He finds all the top rails gone and some posts missing. The Naval Training station was a grand thing for Lake County was it not? Ask the near-by towns.

We notice that Mr. Paullin was taking a private trip along the lake shore a few days ago, wonder if he thinks he can beat the Right Honorable George. Let the postmasters alone Mr. Paullin and get next to the people.

Just think what a calamity it would be if the Hon. Geo. Edmund should not be returned to congress as the tariff on silk stockings might be raised and cotton goods lowered. Vote for the Hon. George as we must have our silk stockings just as cheap as possible, not only we, but Gov. Deneen must have them as he would not be able to adapt himself to the cotton stockings like we wear.

Speaking of Deheen: We mean the Right Honorable Governor Charles S. Deneen, no doubt he has some qualifications (must have had or he could not have made the stake he did while states attorney of Cook county) and some redeeming qualities (though Jones and Wayman say he hasn't) of his own, but his record shows, that while he may have, he hasn't redeemed them, except he's waiting for specie payment.

First Mail.
The first mail between New York and Boston was established in 1672. The letters were carried by a messenger, who was directed to "go and return as often as once a month." This monthly service seems to have been sufficient for some thirty years, when it was changed to a fortnightly service. In 1693 a well organized system of postoffices was established in Pennsylvania and in other localities.

Woman's Mistake.
A woman sent to the conscience fund $3.70 she believes she owes for duty on 27 yards of Irish lace bought from an Italian peddler, who declared he had smuggled it and, therefore, was able to sell it to her at 20 cents a yard. Conscience is a strange thing. The poor woman, if she only knew it, owes herself money.—New York Evening Telegram.

JOHN E. REARDON
Candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court

Who is Looked upon as a Winner

TO THE VOTERS OF LAKE COUNTY:

As heretofore announced, I am a candidate for nomination for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court at the Republican primaries to be held in Lake County on April 9th next. My employment is such that I am unable to get out among you as much as I would wish, but so many have promised me their support that I am led to believe more and more that I will be successful. I do not make this statement as an idle boast. I honestly believe it, as do all my friends who are familiar with conditions as they now exist.

As to my fitness for the office I seek, I refer, without permission, to every member of the Lake County Bar, and the Judges of the Courts, with whom I have the honor to be personally acquainted.

Is it not public opinion that a public office should be passed along, and not devoted to one person alone? From my canvas throughout Lake County, I am satisfied that it is, for the reason that a large number of the men who are interested in my candidacy, are those who have been life-long friends of my opponent, who have said to him in so many words, that they did not feel he should ask for their support again, they having been with him heretofore each time he sought public office, dating back to his unsuccessful candidacy for the office of County Superintendent of Schools twenty-four [24] years ago. I had hope Mr. Brockway would not be a candidate for a fourth term, as he had so widely promised he would not; but he is, and I willingly accord him that right.

Can I do more than refer you especially to the members of the Lake County Bar, and the Judges of the Courts, as to my qualifications for the office I seek? Are not those the men who are best qualified to judge my qualification?

I shall continue to conduct my campaign in a clean, upright manner. It will be up to you to decide, and while I feel confident of my success whither I attain my ambition or not, I shall ever be most grateful for the many kind words spoken to, and of me, and shall point with, I hope, a pardonable pride, to the splendid array of friends who so generously made, and are now making my cause their own, with promise of reward or hope of compensation.

Sincerely Yours,
JOHN E. REARDON.

Some Shakespeare Statistics.

A Shakespearean enthusiast with much leisure time on his hands and a regular mania for statistics has discovered that the plays of Shakespeare contain 106,007 lines and 814,780 words. "Hamlet" is the longest play, with 3,930 lines, and the "Comedy of Errors" the shortest, with 1,777 lines. Altogether the plays contain 1,277 characters, of which 187 are females.

The longest part is that of Hamlet, who has 11,610 words to deliver. The part with the longest word in it is that of Costard in "Love's Labor's Lost," who tells Moth that he is "not so long by the head as honorificabilitudinitatibus."

Premature Escape.

In Rooks county, Kan., thirty years ago a man was charged with murder. The evidence was all in, the attorneys had made their pleas, and the jury was out deliberating. The man gave the sheriff the slip and has never been seen to this day. Five minutes after his escape the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.—Kansas City Journal.

It Doesn't Help.

It is a mistake for the man who gets up in the morning with a bad taste in his mouth to attempt to get rid of it by quarrelling with his wife or whipping the children.

Picked Up Ancient Scotch Coin.

A unique, ancient coin dated 1677, was picked up recently by Mr. George Jackson, of Johnshaven, Kincardineshire, Scotland, while he was working in his garden. On the one side is the crossed sword and scepter with the crown, and on the other a Scotch thistle, with the date over the top. "Hib. Rex" can be distinctly read. The small copper coin, just the size of a present-day sixpence, is in excellent preservation.

"Te Deum" a Hymn of the Ages.

Hallowed by old association and fraught with many memories are the great church hymns like the "Te Deum," which for more than a thousand years has been the song of Christendom. It was chanted at the baptism of Clovis and sung at the Jubilee of Queen Victoria. It was sung also after Agincourt and Waterloo, and on all solemn occasions when the heart of the people had been moved to thanksgiving for victory on land or sea.

Rich Fin' of Old Silver Coins.

More than 2,000 silver coins have been found in a field near Ribe, the oldest town in the west coast of Jutland, in Denmark. The coins are of the "short-cross" type, issued in England under Henry II, Richard I, John, and Henry III., but always bearing the name of Henry, and chiefly of the mints of London, Canterbury and Winchester.

BIG BATTLES NEAR

REBEL FORCES ARE MARCHING AGAINST TWO MEXICAN CITIES.

TROOPS MAY CROSS BORDER

If Lives of American Citizens Are Jeopardized Soldiers Will Invade Mexico—Situation Grows More Troublesome and Menacing.

Washington.—Dispatches to the state and war department indicate that the situation in Mexico remains unchanged—troublesome and menacing. The greatest activity on the part of the revolutionists and brigands is in the state of Chihuahua. There is considerable activity in the state of Coahuila. Both these states are on the border and are giving this government much concern.

A dispatch to the war department stated that the force of insurgents marching on Juarez were about two days' march from that city. A force is marching also on Agua Prieta. Both these towns are ports of entry and the revolutionists are desirous of capturing them for the revenues.

To capture them means a bloody battle, according to the reports received here. The Madero people are determined that they will hold them. A battle at either of these places is what is giving President Taft much concern.

A battle at Juarez means that the lives of Americans on this side of the boundary will be endangered and that the troops at El Paso will cross the border.

In case of fighting across the border line in the future, the American commanders have been instructed by the war department to send the usual notice that American lives and property shall not be endangered.

If this notice is not heeded and a zone of safety respected, the American troops are directed not to hesitate to go into Mexican territory to enforce a proper degree of protection for American citizens.

This policy is the most drastic yet adopted with reference to events in Mexico.

CHRISTIANS ARE IN DANGER

Massacre Threatened as Result of Shelling of Beirut by Italians.

Beirut, Syria.—A strong anti-Christian feeling is prevalent here as an aftermath of the Italian bombardment, which wrecked the city and killed 60 innocent inhabitants and it is feared on every side that a massacre of Christians may result. The native resentment against the followers of Christ has been fanned to fever heat by the declaration of the Turks that the town was shelled with a view to promoting this action to the end that international intervention might bring a speedy termination to the Tripolitan struggle that is costing Italy millions of dollars.

All American residents are reported safe, and the atmosphere has been considerably cleared by the announcement that all Italians of every class would be expelled from Turkey and that the Dardanelles would be closed to shipping.

MAY PROBE TEXTILE STRIKE

Labor Leaders Ask Congress to Investigate Conditions at Lawrence, Mass.

Washington.—A congressional investigation into the strike conditions in Lawrence, Mass., probably will be made as the result of complaints filed with members of the Industrial Workers of the World, the organization which has been conducting the fight for the textile workers.

Coupled with the appeals which came to members of congress to take up this inquiry were the details of the clash which occurred between strike sympathizers and the Lawrence police and Massachusetts state troops. The authorities and the strikers fought for hours after the police had detained 14 children who were being shipped to Philadelphia.

LUSITANIA TOSSED BY STORM

Giant Liner Delayed Many Hours by Winter Winds of Atlantic Ocean.

New York.—Eighteen hours late, as the result of a terrific battle with one of the most severe storms the steamship ever encountered, during which the wind at one time attained a velocity of 150 miles an hour and during most of which the vessel was awash from stem to stern in mountains of water, the Lusitania, every stateroom crowded, reached port.

Hundreds of the women passengers were in almost constant panic during the storm.

FRISCO IS AT HOME AGAIN

Municipal Government Housed in a City Building for First Time Since the Disaster of 1906.

San Francisco.—For the first time since the disaster of 1906 San Francisco's municipal government is housed in a building owned by the municipality. Offices of the mayor, chief of police and other city officers were moved to the new hall of justice, and three buildings formerly occupied by city officials were abandoned.

FLAMES SWEEP CITY

FIRE DOES ENORMOUS DAMAGE AT HOUSTON, TEX.

Loss Reached $7,500,000—Worst Conflagration in the History of State—Industrial Enterprises Destroyed.

Houston, Tex.—In the wake of the most destructive fire in the history of Houston, smoldering wreckage covers an area one and a half miles in length and varying in width from 200 yards to half a mile in the northeastern section of the city.

More than a dozen of the city's most important industrial enterprises are in ruins, 200 or more dwelling houses and store buildings are in ashes, and approximately 1,000 persons are homeless.

Two hundred and fifty workingmen's homes and stores were burned and, although many people were injured, there were no fatalities. The greater part of the loss was occasioned by the destruction of several cotton compresses and warehouses filled with the staple and by the burning of many lumber mills with their immense yards and other manufacturing plants.

The charitable institutions of the city have united in relief work and are caring for the homeless thousands.

PASS TARIFF REVISION BILL

Democrats in House of Representatives Take Action on Chemical Measure.

Washington.—For the first time since the insurgent Republicans broke away from the regulars in the fight on the petroleum duty in the Payne tariff bill in 1909, the Republicans of the house presented practically a solid front against the passage of a tariff revision bill.

Representative Theron Akin of New York, an Independent Republican, and Mr. Hanna of North Dakota, a regular Republican, voted for the measure. Representative Berger of Wisconsin, Socialist, voted against it. All Democratic members of the house voted for the bill.

PLANS INDUSTRIAL BOARD

Congressman Wilson Offers Bill for Federal Commission to Recommend Laws.

Washington.—A federal commission of nine members to be appointed by the president and serve without salary, to recommend new legislation to congress for the benefit of American industries, is proposed in a resolution introduced by Representative Wilson of Chicago. The commission would be authorized to spend $25,000.

The total realized from the sales of pictures is $137,220 for the two sessions. "Moonlight at Midnight," by Jean Charles Casin, brought $9,700, the highest price of the sale.

PROBLEM—GET HIM DOWN WITHOUT HURTING

PERILS MANY LAWS

DECISION OF ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT KNOCKS OUT STATE MEASURES.

WILL CALL EXTRA SESSION

Bill Appropriating $60,000 for University of Illinois Is Declared Illegal Because It Was Not Printed Before Final Passage.

Springfield, Ill.—The state supreme court has handed down a decision which affects the validity of many of the most important laws and appropriation bills passed by the legislature during the last forty years.

The court held an appropriation of $60,000 for the medical department of the University of Illinois to be unconstitutional on the ground that the bill in its final form was not printed before its passage by the legislature.

The $60,000 item was inserted in the conference committee report and rushed through the legislature in the closing hours of the 1911 session.

At each session for many years bills have been passed without fulfilling the constitutional requirement that a bill and all its amendments must be printed before final passage.

As a result an unprecedented situation exists.

Governor Deneen probably will convene the legislature in special session to rectify the mistakes of past years before other measures, whose validity is in doubt, are attacked in the courts.

Many important bills are affected by the decision of the court, including the following: Omnibus appropriation bill, making appropriation for the expenses of the state government for the ensuing two years; omnibus bills making appropriation for the seventeen state charitable institutions; senatorial apportionment under which general assembly members have been elected for last ten years; Cook county civil service bill; bill providing for payment into the state treasury of all fees collected by state officers; municipal civil service bill; Chicago parks civil service bill; Chicago police pension fund bill; state game commission bill; appropriation for sites for state armories and army buildings; appropriation for new buildings at state fair grounds.

RAIL CHIEFS IN CONFERENCE

Meet to Discuss Demands of Engineers for Increase in Wages.

New York.—Executive officials representing all of the large railroad systems in the eastern territory met in this city to exchange views on the demands made by the locomotive engineers for higher wages. The engineers are uniting in a movement for a wage advance of 15 per cent. Every road east of Chicago, north of the Chesapeake and Ohio and south of the Canadian border, is affected.

The railroads, it is understood, are inclined to look upon the demands of the engineers as hardly justified by existing conditions.

Recall May Be Recalled.

Seattle, Wash.—Returns indicate that Hiram C. Gill, who was removed from the office of mayor by the recall last year for alleged misconduct in office, has been renominated by a large vote to run against Thomas A. Parish, the "business men's candidate." Gill and Parish will contest for the office in the election on March 5.

Ends Colombian Matter. Washington.—The Colombian incident was closed here when the state department received a letter from the Colombian minister, Pedro Nel Ospina, saying he had turned the legation affairs over to Senor Don Roberto MacDouall, first secretary, who will act as charge d'affaires.

Commission Rule for Boise. Boise, Idaho.—Citizens of Boise declared for a commission form of government by a majority of 20 votes at an election here.

OSPINA IS RECALLED

MINISTER NOT UPHELD BY COLUMBIA OR PEOPLE.

Announced International Policy of His Country Toward United States Will Be Maintained.

Bogota, Colombia.—Gen. Pedro Mel Ospina, Colombian minister to the United States, was recalled by the Colombian government.

The action of the Colombian government was taken because neither it nor the Colombian people uphold the position taken by the Colombian minister at Washington in notifying the state department that the visit to Colombia of Secretary of State Knox would be inopportune, owing to the fact that Colombia's claims in connection with Panama have not yet been arbitrated.

The notification given by the Colombian government says that Gen. Ospina is "separated" from his post at Washington, and that the incident between Colombia and the United States is thus closed. Colombia, it continues, will maintain her international policy.

TAFT TO REPLY TO COLONEL

President Will Answer Columbus Speech of Roosevelt in Installments.

Washington.—A clear cut issue between his political creed and that of his predecessor will be presented by President Taft in reply to the Columbus speech of Colonel Roosevelt. Mr. Taft's answer will not be made in one speech, but between now and the last of March he has many speaking dates and these will be used for the purpose of stating his own position on the big questions of the day. Although the president will make no direct attack on Mr. Roosevelt, and although administration officials refuse to discuss the matter, it can be stated positively that Mr. Taft will reply to the speech of the former president.

EIGHT DIE IN BURNING MINE

Work of Rescue Is Prevented by Smoke and Failure of Hoisting Machinery.

Lehigh, Okla.—Eight miners employed in the coal mine of the Wichita Coal & Mining company, one mile east of Lehigh, lost their lives when fire broke out in mine No. 5, entombing the men in the pits.

The filling up of the shafts with smoke and the failure of the machinery to work prevented their rescue. Six dead bodies have been recovered from the mine and the work is still being pushed. The fire is still raging in the mine, and it is not believed that any of the men within the shafts can be alive. The number of these is estimated variously by different officials of the company at from fifteen to thirty-five.

SPLIT VOTE IN OKLAHOMA

Clark and Wilson Forces Divide Democratic Delegation Evenly Between Them.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—In accordance with the provisions of a resolution adopted after hours of wrangling, the Democratic state convention adjourned, having named a list of delegates evenly divided between the Clark and Wilson factions. Robert Galbreath was named national committeeman by unanimous vote.

MANY NEED PENSION

Hundreds of Old and Infirm Government Employees.

PLAN IS WARMLY OPPOSED

Hard Fight Certain Before Any Retirement Law Is Passed by Congress—Fillbuser of James Burke in 1778 Recalled.

By GEORGE CLINTON.
Washington.—The 20,000 clerks in the Washington departments still are deeply interested in a movement to secure legislation from congress which will enable them when they have grown old in the service to retire on pensions. There is a good deal of opposition in congress to any scheme for civil pensions, but England has old age pensions and civil pensions of a kind which recently seems to have appealed to many of the American law-makers, and it is predicted freely in Washington that before many years the government employees will in the age retirement matter be put on a footing with the army and navy.

There are some hundreds of men, and women, too, in Washington who would be eligible for civil pensions if the law were to be enacted. In the daily procession to the departments at the hour for beginning work there are many men and women moving along laboriously on crutches. Hundreds of others need canes to aid the halting steps and hundreds of others who need them get along without them, fearing that the use of them would be an open confession of weakness.

Two Sides to the Question.
There is a plan to retire every man and woman who has reached the age of seventy years. If this bill should become a law some of these men and women who have reached the Pensioners' allotted span of life will not have to take the trail that leads from Capitol Hill to the poor house.

There are two sides to this civil pension question. There are men who think there is no reason why the government employees should not have lived enough to provide against old age just as other men and women are compelled to take care against the future. The other side of it is that the cost of living is very high in Washington and that government pay is none too generous. One thing is to be taken for granted, there will be a hard fight before any civil pension law is passed by congress.

Roosevelt and the Murchie Baby.
The United States marshal for the district of Massachusetts is Guy Murchie, a Harvard man, who was a sergeant in Roosevelt's regiment of Rough Riders. Marshal Murchie is well known in Washington and the city heard not long ago with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Murchie, the marshal's wife. There are four children in the Murchie family, all under six years of age.

When Theodore Roosevelt was president he paid a visit to Harvard university, where his son was to join a club to which his father had belonged before him and was to join it with certain ceremonies in which the graduate members were to take part. The president also was to make a speech to the Harvard students and the time allotted for his Boston and Cambridge visit was so brief that everything he was to do was timed and tabulated and there were to be no interruptions to the program.

The president reached Boston and just after the mayor and the governor had greeted him and the presidential thought was turning to the next affair on the program, Mr. Roosevelt received a message. Instantly he entered a carriage and was whirled away to a Mount Vernon street residence. It was the home of Guy Murchie and in the parlor of the home were Mr. and Mrs. Murchie, a number of friends and relatives and Bishop Lawrence of the Episcopal church. There was also a baby, and the possible future Rough Rider was to be baptized.

It was the news of the baptism that took President Roosevelt to the Murchie home and there, good Dutch Reformed churchman that he is, he stood godfather and "did promise and vow three things" in the name of the babe at the font, a good Episcopalian babe and the grandchild of one of the greatest clergymen that the Episcopal church has held in its communion, Dr. E. Winchester Donald, who died some time ago and who was chosen unanimously as a successor to Phillips Brooks by the people of Trinity church, Boston. Mrs. Murchie was a daughter of Dr. Donald.

Fillbuser of Long Ago.
The other day in the house of representatives there was a filibuster on the passage of the steel tariff bill. The Republicans held that there was too much haste in enacting the legislation and they tried by every known parliamentary means, and by some which perhaps were not parliamentary, to secure a prolonging of the debate. The Democrats during the attempted filibuster called attention to the fact that when the Republicans were in the majority in the house they would cut off debate by the power which numbers gave them, and that today they had no rightful cause to object to being done by as they had done by others.

A fellow correspondent who is possessed of some ancient records insists that "the same things happens over and over again in congress." Then he has gone on to say: "The filibusters of today which are of frequent occurrence have their counterparts in the history of legislation ever since congress began."

Thomas Burke of North Carolina 133 years ago conducted a filibuster in congress. For a time he had one follower, Edward Langworthy of Georgia, but only for a short time.

"At about ten o'clock on the evening of April 10, 1778, the continental congress took into consideration the draft of a letter in answer to General Washington's letter of the 4th, and some progress being made thereon, a motion was made to adjourn, it being ten o'clock."

Censured For His Filibuster.
As the story goes on, it is discovered that Mr. Burke, after voting for adjournment, declared that the others might vote as they pleased, he would "upon his honor adjourn himself," and thereupon he immediately withdrew, "by which means congress could not proceed to business," Mr. Langworthy, the delegate representing Georgia, also withdrew.

Congress sent a messenger to find the absent members and to request them to return to attend congress. When the messenger came back he reported that Mr. Langworthy had said that he would return presently, but that Mr. Burke had replied that the devil might take him if he would come, it was too late and too unreasonable.

The upshot of the whole business was the adoption of the following resolution: "Resolved, That the manner in which Mr. Burke withdrew on the evening of the said 10th instant was disorderly and contemptuous; and that the answer then returned by him was indecent. That the principle upon which he has attempted to justify his withdrawing from the house is dangerous, because it strikes at the very existence of the house, and as in the present case actually happened, would enable a single member to put an instant stop to the most important proceedings of congress."

In these colonial days, Delegate Burke was a true state's righter. He declared to the house that while it might be criminal in members of congress to withhold their attendance when the public safety required it, "they are to be judged and punished by the laws of the state they represent and by no other power."

The continental congress declared that its resolution touching the case of Mr. Burke should be transmitted to the assembly of North Carolina, and there so far as the present historian knows, the case ended.

Conserving the Bison.
In the agricultural appropriation bill reported recently from the proper committee to the house there is an item of $17,000 which will be used to care for and protect the bird refugees where wild birds may be unmolested, and which have been set aside by executive order, and the bison or, as most people say, the buffalo, reservation in Montana.

There is a good deal of interest in congress attaching to the bison, and this means all through the country, because it has been appeals from the people which have stirred interest in the congressmen. In a Montana reservation a government herd of bison ranges in virtually a wild state. Congress was led to take action to buy and preserve these wild animals by appeals from the American Bison association, of which William T. Hornaday of the Bronx Zoological park is the moving spirit. Senator Dixon of Montana introduced a bill to set aside a tract of land containing 20 square miles. It is located on the old Flathead Indian reservation, and the land, while making a fine bison range, is almost totally unfit for agricultural purposes. In other words, it is practically waste land.

A Flathead Indian named Pablo living in Montana had in his possession a few years ago a herd of 350 bison, or, to begin using the common name, although it is wrong, buffalo. The Canadian government learned of the existence of the herd and bought it from the Flathead, who was tempted by the offer because of its seeming generosity, and probably because he did not know the full value of the animals in this day of their scarcity. The Canadians took about half the herd, divided the half into two parts, and turned the animals loose on ranges on the other side of the border, where it is said today they are thriving. The understanding is that since then Canada has taken the rest of its purchase. Pablo, the Flathead, however, retained in his possession about 50 of the animals. To these he added others, and with the natural increase he had quite a fine herd for Uncle Sam.

Wood Buffalo in Saskatchewan.
Most people do not know that there is still in existence a herd of actually wild bison. Little is known concerning it, save the fact of its existence. How many animals there are and what their chances of continued existence, may be put down, at best, as a mere matter of guessing. Up somewhere in the northern part of the province of Saskatchewan there are a few left, possibly more than a few, animals known to the people as wood buffalo.

The layman's belief is that the wood buffalo and the buffalo of the plains are different species, but they are not. They are identical, except for the fact that the wood buffalo are a little larger than their southern family members. How long a lease of life the wood buffalo may have no one knows, but it may be that the Canadian government will undertake, ultimately, their protection and preservation.

ROOSEVELT SAYS HE WILL ACCEPT

Declares Himself In Race for Republican Nomination.

GOVERNORS GET HIS ANSWER

Urges Direct Primary to Show Popular Preference—Seeks Genuine Rule of the People—Personal Preference Not Considered.

New York.—Colonel Roosevelt has formally declared himself in the race for the Republican nomination for president. His declaration is made in a statement replying to a letter addressed to him on February 10 by the governors of eight western states.

In declaring his willingness to accept the nomination if tendered him, the former president says he will adhere to this decision until the Republican national convention has expressed its preference.

The following is Mr. Roosevelt's reply to the western governors:

Says He Will Accept.

"I deeply appreciate your letter and I realize to the full the heavy responsibility it puts upon me, expressing, as it does, the carefully considered convictions of the men elected by popular vote to stand as the heads of government in their several states."

"I absolutely agree with you that this matter is not one to be decided with any reference to the personal preferences or interests of any man, but purely from the standpoint of the interests of the people as a whole. I will accept the nomination for president if it is tendered to me and I will adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference. One of the chief principles for which I have stood and for which I now stand and which I have always endeavored and always shall endeavor to reduce to action is the genuine rule of the people; and therefore I hope that so far as possible the people may be given the chance, through direct primaries, to express their preference as to who shall be the nominee of the Republican presidential convention."

Put Up to Him by Governors.

The letter was addressed to Gov. William E. Glassecock of West Virginia, Gov. Chester H. Aldrich of Nebraska, Gov. Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, Gov. Joseph M. Carey of Wyoming, Gov. Chase S. Osborn of Michigan, Gov. W. H. Stubbs of Kansas and Gov. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri.

The letter from the governors to the colonel was as follows:

"We, the undersigned Republican governors, assembled for the purpose of considering what will best insure the continuation of the Republican party as a useful agency of good government, declare it our belief, after a careful investigation of the facts, that a large majority of the Republican voters of the country favor your nomination and a large majority of the people favor your election, as the next president of the United States. We believe that your candidacy will insure success in the next campaign."

Urged to Declare Himself.
"We believe that you represent, as no other man represents, those principles upon which we must appeal for a majority of the votes of the American people, and which in our opinion are necessary for the happiness and prosperity of the country."

"We believe that in view of this public demand you should soon declare whether, if the nomination for the presidency comes to you unsolicited and unsought, you will accept it."

"In submitting this request we are not considering your personal interests. We do not regard it as proper to consider either the interests or the preference of any man as regards the nomination for the presidency. We are expressing our sincere belief and best judgment as to what is demanded of you in the interests of the people as a whole. And we feel that you would be unresponsive to a plain public duty if you should decline to accept the nomination, coming as the voluntary expression of the wishes of a majority of the Republican voters of the United States, through the action of their delegates in the next national convention."

"My Hat Is in the Ring."
Boston, Feb. 26.—"Yes, my hat is in the ring."

That was Colonel Roosevelt's sententious comment when informed that the telegraph wires were carrying the news of his open avowal of the presidential candidacy.

"Have you any word you care to convey to the people beyond what you have said in your letter to the governors?" was asked.

"No; there needs to be nothing more said at this time," was the response.

Adequate Punishment.
It is most certain that ill tongues would be silent if all ears were not open; and hence it was an opposite saying of the ancients that the teller and hearer of slander should both be hanged—the one by the tongue, and the other by the ears.

Golden Thought.
An irreverent and illiterate Englishman who has just returned from the United States was heard to describe the country, the other day, as "A Hell Dollarado."—Punch.

HER WELL-MERITED REPROOF

Rebuke of Boston Teacher Must Almost Have Broken the Heart of Little Sammy Parker.

A well-known educator tells of a school of advanced ideas in Boston, wherein no pupil is ever punished in any way, the individuality of every child being held too sacred for repression.

One day, it appears, soon after her entrance into this school, one little girl came home with a face wet with tears and her mouth covered with blood.

The mother was greatly alarmed, and, taking the child into her arms, asked what had happened.

The story of what had happened was sobbed out to the sympathetic mother. One Sammy Parker, it seemed, had struck the little girl and knocked out a couple of teeth.

When the unfortunate youngster had been restored to equanimity her father, who had in the meantime put in an appearance, naturally enough wanted to know how the teacher had dealt with Sammy.

"She didn't do anything,"

"Well, what did she say?"

"She called Sammy to her desk and said: 'Samuel, don't you know that was very antisocial?'"—Harper's Magazine.

CHILD'S HEAD A MASS OF HUMOR

"I think the Cuticura remedies are the best remedies for eczema I have ever heard of. My mother had a child who had a rash on its head when it was real young. Doctor called it 'baby rash.' He gave us medicine, but it did no good. In a few days the head was a solid mass, a running sore. It was awful; the child cried continually. We had to hold him and watch him to keep him from scratching the sore. His suffering was dreadful. At last we remembered Cuticura Remedies. We got a dollar bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bar of Cuticura Soap. We gave the Resolvent as directed, washed the head with the Cuticura Soap, and applied the Cuticura Ointment. We had not used half before the child's head was clear and free from eczema, and it has never come back again. His head was healthy and he had a beautiful head of hair. I think the Cuticura Ointment very good for the hair. It makes the hair grow and prevents falling hair." (Signed) Mrs. Francis Lund, Plain City, Utah, Sept. 19, 1910.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.

A Painful Occasion.

"What is the trouble next door?" "Little Tommy Tibbles is giving a coming out haul."

"A coming out haul? I don't understand."

"His father has just released him after a short session in the wood shed."

Strong Healthy Women

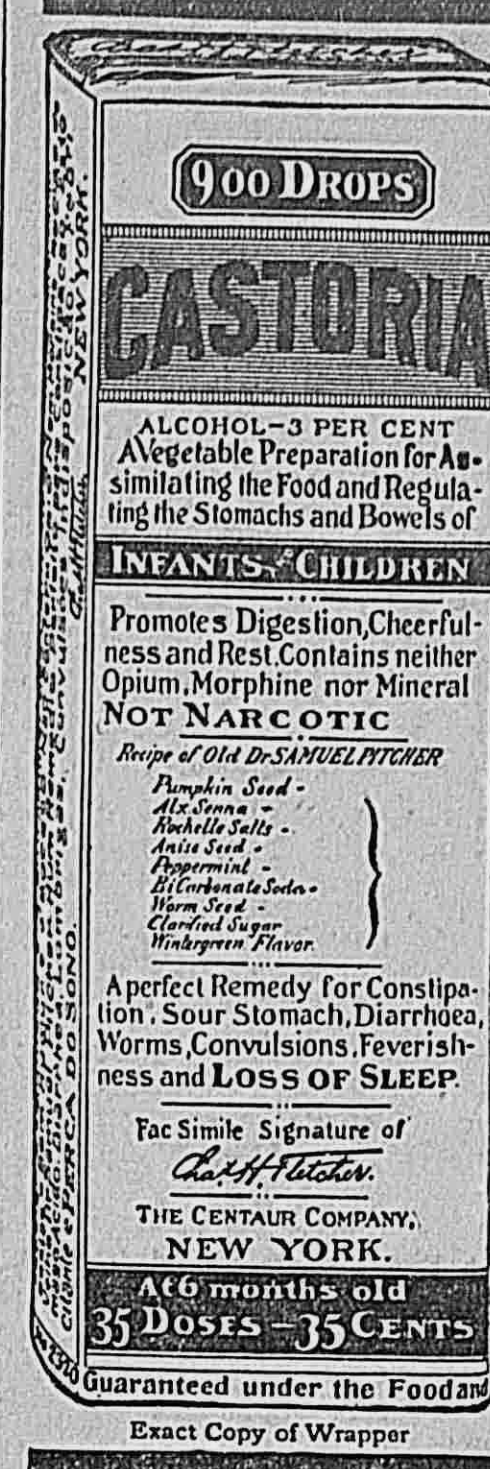

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drug. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

LIFE INSURANCE

The only thing that the public gets at cost
Any other business can better afford to wait

The life insurance business has been much more generally distributed among the companies during the last six year. The change was caused by the activity of the medium sized companies. These facts effectually dispose of the fear that the life insurance business would eventually drift into control of a few companies. The ratio of the total business held by a few large companies fell from 53.25 per cent in 1890 to 48.76 per cent in 1900 and to 46.28 per cent in 1905. From then on the decline of their proportion was rapid, till in 1910 it was 36.67.

Old Line Legal Reserve Argument is Incontrovertible

Remember, this is the regular old line legal reserve life insurance which has never gone wrong, never failed to pay death claims when they are due, because such companies are required to deposit their total capital stock with the insurance department in sound interest bearing securities, such as bonds or farm mortgages, and then are supervised by the State Insurance Departments of the various States in which they transact business. All other forms of insurance, fraternal orders, assessments, etc., eventually operate at a loss and then go down to disaster, leaving a number of elderly members entirely without insurance protection, after having paid money into the scheme for years, and are left unable on account of age and infirmity to obtain other insurance.

The Old Michigan Mutual Life

Why pay for a dividend that cannot be guaranteed and is doubtful, which has in the past caused more dissatisfaction than through all other sources combined.
